

Where do you get your ideas?

First think of bad ideas then run in the opposite direction.

Eventually you will see them huddled, with tousled hair.

Contemplating their claws, you will sense their yellow teeth must have chiseled the scars in the turned legs of the antique furniture that now surrounds you.

Take a seat and consider that gnawing is necessary, as the curved incisors of ideas never stop growing.

Michael Bazzett